h.	Königsberg-Rothenstein :	Occupied by artillery and armored units.
i.	Former Luftwaffe headquarters building, Maraunenhof:	lloused an officers training school attended by approximately 1,400 cadets aged eighteen to twenty.
j.	Maraumenhof hospital :	Reconstructed and used as a hospital for Russian troops.
4.	The former German barracks on the Trommelplatz and Herzogsacker have been completely destroyed.
5.	The former Wehrmacht supply depot at Schönfliess, south of Kaliningrad, was used by the Soviet army during November 1947. On the west side of the railway a large dump of war materiel was established. It con-50X1-HUN tained light and heavy artillery pieces, anti-tank guns, trucks, and armored cars. The dump covered an area of some thirty acres. A few buildings existed, but most of the material was parked in the open air.
6.	Only three of the bridges across the Pregel at Kaliningrad were intact in November 1947. An emergency bridge had been erected between the Dominsel and the Vorstädtische Langgasse.
7.	The former infantry barracks and training area at Stablack, near Kaliningrad, were converted by the Russians into a civilian and P. internment camp.
